Scope and Content Note

Drew University's Historical Manuscripts Collection contains manuscript material from more than 900 different individuals. The figures represented in the collection constitute a diverse group, including authors of poetry and popular fiction, theologians and other religious writers, political figures (including American presidents and British prime ministers), educators and academics, entertainers and performers, as well as scientists, merchants, and captains of industry.

The earliest materials date from around 1600, with the rest of the collection continuing up to the middle of the 20th century. The types of materials included are numerous, with a particular strength in sermon manuscripts from 18th and 19th century Protestant ministers, as well as letters, government documents, and literary manuscripts. In addition to hand-written materials, some files include supporting material related to the individuals including newspaper clippings, images, and printed works. Prominent within the collection are a series of letters to and from soldiers during the United States Civil War.

The materials are arranged in alphabetical order by last name of the creator. Names have been identified according to the Library of Congress Name Authority File (LCNAF) where available. Within each folder, individual items are dated when available. Please note that many items do not have identifiable dates of creation.
