Historical Note

The Drew University Center for Holocaust/Genocide Study was established in 1992 following the awarding of a grant from the New Jersey Commission on Holocaust Education. Since that time, the Center has become an advocate for educating the community about the Holocaust and other genocides. As part of this outreach, the Center hosts or participates in a variety of events each year that provide academics and the general public with the chance to learn about and discuss these events. In addition, the Center supports and enriches both undergraduate and graduate studies at Drew University by inviting notable scholars and speakers to campus, organizing visits to the United States Holocaust Memorial Museum, and providing educational resources that enhance and encourage the study of the Holocaust. Each year, the Center hosts a conference in November in memory of Kristallnacht. Along with the annual Yom HaShoah commemoration, this conference serves as an important foundation for the Center's yearly activities. The Center also produces print and online material for researchers, students, and educators to use as reference tools.

The mission of the Center is to commemorate those who perished in the Holocaust and to celebrate those who survived; to educate upcoming generations to "remember for the future"; and to dedicate its energies to ongoing research and scholarship. The Center's mission includes those genocides that foreshadowed the Holocaust, those that followed it, and those that continue to erupt.

Scope and Content Note

The Records of the Center for Holocaust/Genocide Study is part of the larger group of archival collections from the Drew University Center for Holocaust/Genocide Study. This archival collection includes files related to the annual conferences that the Drew University Center for Holocaust/Genocide Study has hosted since 1993, as well as material related to publications from the late 1990s and early 2000s. The documents in this collection consist of public-facing materials such as conference programs and published newsletters, but also include behind-the-scenes material related to the generation of these events and publications. The records in this collection are divided into two main series, descriptions of which are available below.
